FESTIVAL OVERVIEW

Inspirate's flagship festival, An Indian Summer, is back from Wednesday 1st July to Sunday 5th July 2026, bringing a fresh, bold and unique programme of contemporary South Asian arts and culture to Leicester.

This year's programme features open-air and indoor events happening in venues across the city, including Attenborough Arts Centre, Jubilee Square and the historic surroundings of Leicester Cathedral and Guildhall. Showcasing original work by South Asian artists from across the UK, this year's festival programme features bold theatre, cutting-edge dance, live music, puppetry, film and visual arts.

THANK YOU AND CREDITS

Thank you to all the artists, partner organisations and funders who have worked closely with us to create a vibrant festival programme that spans across the city.

With thanks also to Without Walls and Art Reach, with whom we have partnered with to co-commission, support and platform new work by South Asian artists.

Our festival theme this year is:

CIRCLES AND CYCLES

Across South Asia and its diasporas, life is often perceived beyond straight lines, blocks of time and linear pathways.

It is something much more expansive and fluid than this, a journey travelled through cycles, circles, repeating patterns and spontaneous rhythms.

As we move within, through and between our different phases and seasons, we carry the memories and stories that have shaped us. With every cycle of becoming is always a series of returns, honouring all that has come before while making space for rebirth and renewal. We open and close chapters multiple times, beginning again and again and again. We ebb and flow through who we have been, who we are now and the future self we are growing into.

Cycles remind us that change does not mean leaving everything behind, but moving forward with moments cherished, lessons learnt, the courage to challenge and disrupt, embracing the possibilities of all that lies ahead.

As we evolve, our search for circles is ever present, communal places where we can gather with others, be held and nurtured, sharing our individual presence whilst building collective energy. The two inter-connect and co-exist, we enter growth and transformation whilst also seeking a deep sense of home and the quiet joy of belonging.

This year's festival programme brings together South Asian artists from a wide range of disciplines and art forms. Together, we delve into the layers and complexities of this theme, offering a richness of stories, ritual and artistic exploration where past, present and imagined futures merge and weave together.

Aaron Hira - DJ

Sat 4th July & Sun 5th July | Saturday 4th July - between 10:30am -5pm. Sunday 5th July - between 10:30 am -5pm | Jubilee Square (Sun 5th July) | Free (part of Festival Weekend Programme)

Aaron Hira will be our resident DJ throughout the festival weekend, blending contemporary and nostalgic rhythms and melody, creating an ambient and eclectic soundtrack during our festival takeover in Jubilee Square.

FREE

The Rite of Spring - Dance - Seeta Patel Dance Company

Saturday 4th July | 11:30am, 1:10pm 4:25pm | Jubilee Square
Free (part of Festival Weekend Programme)

Seeta Patel Dance presents a breathtaking re-imagining of Stravinsky's iconic ballet 'The Rite of Spring', brought to life through the powerful classical Indian dance form Bharatanatyam. This pagan folk story is a striking fusion of Western classical music and Indian classical dance, celebrating the connection between cultures in an open-air setting.

FREE

Garbh - Dance - Shyam Dattani & Mira Salat

Sat 4th July & Sun 5th July | Saturday 4th July - 12:35pm and 3:40pm, there will be a touch tour at 3:15pm prior to the 3:40pm performance. Sunday 5th July - 12:35pm and 3:40pm, there will be a touch tour at 3:15pm prior to the 3:40pm performance | Jubilee Square | Free (part of Festival Weekend Programme)

Garbh (womb) is an innovative, in-the-round, outdoor dance work that reimagines the ancient Gujarati Folk Dance 'Garba', giving voice to this underrepresented ancestral form through contemporary choreography and immersive design.

FREE

Holy Dirt - Physical Theatre - Vidya Thirunarayan, David Glass

Sat 4th July & Sun 5th July | Sat 4th July - 11:30am, 2:20pm. Sun 5th July - 11:30am, 2:20pm | Jubilee Square
Free (part of Festival Weekend Programme)

Holy Dirt is a bold outdoor performance by Vidya Thirunarayan. A vibrant, funny, and beautifully episodic performance that playfully explores the mythic feminine as she struggles ridiculously through our climate catastrophe - she stumbles, she dances, she transforms. Clay, stones, water and sand erupt across the space in a visually startling drama set to a rich global soundscape, where the rawness of earth converges with myth and ritual.

FREE

NADI | नदी | River - Ishika Biswas

Sat 4th July & Sun 5th July | Sat 4th July - 1:50pm, 5:05pm. Sun 5th July - 1:50pm, 5:05pm | Jubilee Square
Free (part of Festival Weekend Programme)

In South Asian cosmology, rivers like the Ganga and Yamuna are sacred, yet they are dying. NADI centres the classical river goddess in a ritual of climate grief, asking: What happens when the divine becomes polluted? NADI is an act of mourning and collective resolve, where the body serves as the landscape to invite audiences into an intimate encounter with water, loss, and resilience.

Inspirate and ArtReach are proud to present this brand new co-commission as 'work in development' at this year's An Indian Summer and Journeys Festival International in Leicester from 17-25 October 2026.

FREE

JAIKUR - Film and dance - Kesha Raithata

Saturday 4th July & Sunday 5th July | Sat 4th July - 2:20am. Sunday 5th July - 4:10pm | Jubilee Square | Free to attend

JAIKUR is a short dance film and companion to The Lost Breath, rewilding South Asian women within Leicester's green landscapes and the vibrant heart of Belgrave. Rooted in ancestry, diaspora and feminine memory, it becomes an invocation of visibility, belonging, breath and collective remembrance.

Roots & Rivers - Film and dance - Nupur Arts

Saturday 4th July & Sunday 5th July | Sat 4th July - 4:10pm. Sunday 5th July - 12:20am | Jubilee Square | Free to attend

Roots and Rivers is a dance film that uses the metaphor of water to explore resilience, adaptability and interconnectedness. Dancers embody currents and flows, moving between unity and divergence, symbolising how nature mirrors human relationships and emotional cycles.
